

THE WASHINGTON POST
22 August 1975

Walters Says CIA Essential to U.S.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21 (UPI)—The ability of this nation to resist attacks by Communists may hinge on how the CIA survives "an effort to make it appear immoral, shady and un-American," the agency's deputy director says. "We cannot resist the advance of communism if we are tied hand and foot and our pockets are turned inside out and contents exposed for every foreigner to look at," Lt. Gen. Vernon A. Walters told the annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Wednesday.